
VDOT Controlled Principal Arterials

Principal Arterials for the Access Management Regulations

§ 33.1-13 of the Code of Virginia grants the Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT) Commissioner broad authority to preserve the efficient operation of the systems of state highways. §33.1-198.1 directs the Commissioner to develop and implement regulations/standards to manage access in order to preserve the efficient operation of state highways according to their federal functional classification or operational characteristics. The Access Management Regulations: Principal Arterials specify that the Commissioner may classify highways based on their operational characteristics.

The Commissioner has used this authority to classify certain highways or portions of highways as principal arterials. As a result, the access management regulations and the spacing standards for entrances, intersections, traffic signals, and median openings will apply to both federally classified principal arterials as well as those designated by the Commissioner for access management purposes.

In many cases highways are classified as federal principal arterials within Census Bureau boundaries for urbanized areas (UZA), but lose this classification at the boundary of the UZA. To achieve a more complete network of highways that function as principal arterials instead of one with many “gaps”, the Commissioner has extended the highway’s principal arterial designation to the point where it connects to another UZA or federal principal arterial. Examples include US 50 between the Northern VA and Winchester UZAs, US 301 between the Richmond UZA and US 301 in Caroline County, US 33 from the Richmond UZA to US 29, and US 58 between the Martinsville UZA and US 58 outside of Galax.

The Commissioner has identified additional highways that can be expected to function as principal arterials due to their location as major highway corridors of regional significance, some of which will be valuable for emergency evacuation purposes. US 58 from the Tennessee state line to Town of Big Stone Gap is only major highway in Lee County and is important in their efforts to attract economic development. US 522/US 15 will become an increasingly significant highway corridor in north/central Virginia connecting Winchester to Front Royal to Culpeper to Interstate 64. US 60 between James City County and Richmond provides a hurricane evacuation route and the VA 208/US 522 corridor offers an emergency route for the area around the North Anna nuclear power station.

It is important to note that the access management regulations and the entrance/intersection spacing standards apply to just a small portion of the systems of state highways as non-interstate principal arterials make up only about 6% of all VDOT maintained highways. Many counties have only one such principal arterial and a dozen or so do not have any within their boundaries.
